The Arnolds create artisanal cheeses 275 gallons of locally collected milk at a time - what they call Montana style Goudas; closer to an English Cheddar than a traditional Gouda with a drier paste (or body), often a crystalline crunch and a satisfying full mouth feel. A wonderfully sophisticated taste from the wilds of Montana.

Eggs

Mission Mountain Organic Eggs is situated in the Mission Valley of Montana, where their chickens roam freely on a massive amount of pastured ground beneath the Mission Mountains of Northwest Montana. This family-run business pays close attention to practices that go well above and beyond the standard certified organic requirements. There is no soy or corn in their feed – only green diets full of vitamins and Omega-3s. Mission Mountain Organic Eggs have been a valued WMGC member since 2007.

Hugh and Viki Spencer have been involved in agriculture for their entire lives— Viki began by growing up on a family ranch in Montana and Hugh has been raising chickens since he was 8 years old on his family's poultry farm. Spencer's Valley View eggs come from cage free, free ranging Red Island Red chickens, which are known for their friendly disposition and flavorful eggs. The chickens are fed a 100% vegetarian diet and are free of antibiotics, stimulants, steroids and hormones.

Dry Goods

Country Pasta was founded in 1990 by husband and wife team, Dean and Linda Knutson. Starting with 100% durum semolina and adding in farm fresh eggs, clean mountain water and natural sea salt this pasta is produced the old-fashioned way. These ingredients are mixed together, rolled and cut, then dried to give you the goodness of homemade pasta without the homemade mess.

Bison and Bee Honey Company is family run business dedicated to providing high quality local honey. They offer lightly-heated liquid honey that is easy to pour while maintaining the integrity of the honey. Unlike many honey producers who overheat and damage their honey, Bison and Bee precisely controls the heating process of their honey at a low temperature to preserve the quality. Bison and Bee does not filter the honey to leave in the trace amounts of beeswax which is also edible. The Bison and Bee family harvest their honey in collaboration with a collective of beekeepers in the Missoula Valley.

Wustner Brothers Honey is a family-owned and operated business in 2011 in Stevensville, Montana. Today Wustner Brothers Honey operates out of Missoula, Montana. Wustner Brothers Honey is a member of the Sustainable Business Council and the Western Montana Growers Cooperative. We offer raw honey in Wildflower, Knapweed and Clover varieties. In addition to raw honey, we also produce raw creamed-honey and a line of hand-made beeswax lip balms. Our raw honey contains naturally-occurring beeswax, pollen, and propolis, which contribute to the nutritional value and medicinal characteristics of the honey.

Chris Trevino began making tortillas at the age of 5 alongside his grandma in Bridger, Montana. As a child, Chris spent his summers with her, helping her cook and perfecting the art of rolling tortillas. Trevino's started in November of 2003 in the deli at Van's State Avenue IGA in Billings, where Chris and his son rolled tortillas by hand. Now, Trevino's provides grocery stores throughout Montana with the freshest, best tortillas.

Tiffany Perkins started Plant Perks in 2017 after a decade of thriving on a plant based, organic lifestyle. Plant Perks starts with a base of fermented cashew cream and then mix in natural ingredients. Each cheeze is made just like a traditional dairy cheese, except we replace the dairy with creamy cashews. Spread them, melt them, mix them, whatever way you choose to enjoy them, you're sure to be left wanting more.

Beef

For over 20 years Lifeline Farm has been providing Montanans with quality, fresh, organic foods. Our beef is raised and processed in the Bitterroot Valley. We use no synthetic growth hormones or routine antibiotics. As a Demeter Certified Biodynamic farm, we grow at least 80% of our own feeds using farm-based fertility. No chemical fertilizers, pesticides, or herbicides are ever used. All of their feed is organically grown, and they are never fed rendered animal by-products. Our animals are field-finished, primarily on our own pasture and hay.

Pork

Not so long ago, most rural families and farms raised a few pigs in the backyard. They would be fed on kitchen scraps and leftover feed from feeding other animals. When they were grown up, they would be made into delicious hams, bacon, and sausage by the local butcher or the farmer's wife. We have adapted this idea of not wasting valuable food on our dairy, where we feed leftover milk, spilled grain, and scraps of cheese to a few pigs, which are eventually sold as ribs, chops, roasts, bacon and sausage. All of our butchering and sausage making is done locally at Lolo Locker.
